

Spontaneous applause:
the Suono Vivo outdoor Acoustic Chamber.
Listen to pure music.

Cortile Collegio Marconi – Portogruaro

Villa Basiletti - Brescia

Suono Vivo is an ingenious sound-box that effectively makes up for acoustic deficiencies, projecting the music towards the audience for high quality sound and listening, while at the same protecting the players.

The outcome of qualified acoustic physics and engineering research, the Suono Vivo outdoor acoustic chamber consists of special panels in Lexan Polycarbonate featuring outstanding sound reflection properties, and has a simple modular structure that adapts perfectly to the stage needs of large orchestras and also individual soloists. It is also quickly assembled and disassembled, is weatherproof and creates an elegant outdoor stage set.

Produced, distributed and installed by Suono Vivo Srl, Padua, the only Italian natural acoustics service, the acoustic chamber has been used hundreds of times, being permanently or occasionally adopted by many theatres and organisations in Italy and abroad, and is increasingly appreciated and requested... all to advantage of classical music.
